EAST AND WEST OF EUROPE.

There are many relations and things connected with civilization in Europe which are interesting to the curious mind. Men have lived who have devoted the larger part of their lives to investigating the facts connected with the race and its migrations from Asia to Europe and in investigating its migrations from Eastern and Northeastern Europe to the western portions of the continent.

These men were not only scholars but were so very curious after knowledge that they followed the history of the race in all manner of ways possible to satisfy their desire to investigate curious things.

The race were not contented with any part of the continent for an abiding place till the seas said. Thus far and no farther. When men could not any more satisfy their desire to roam they began to destroy each other in wars of contention about who should occupy the earth, as its size was then understood.

The west of Europe is the most familiar to the world from many causes operating upon the people which have given them a leading position not only on the continent but also in the world which the people in the east have been in a measure strangers to until railroads came to their aid.

Railroads have not removed the cause, but these arteries in commerce have largely overcome many difficulties that the people in the more eastern portions of the continent have had to contend with. The extent of sea coast there is on the west is the chief cause there is which favors the west. Commerce has furnished the chief influence there is operating to favor the west in opposition to the east.

For the purpose of forming some idea of the causes operating upon the west and east of Europe it may be stated that the continent of Europe contains about 4,000,000 square miles. Of the number of square miles 1,500,000 belong to western Europe which are divided among the western nations which have controlled the world for centuries.

The remaining 2,500,000 square miles belong to the eastern part of the continent and are united under the scepter of Russia.

Nature and religion have acted together to cause a strong opposition between the west and east, which has extended its chief force favorable to the west in connection with the greater extent of sea coast. The shores on the west are broken and inland seas are plentiful. Deep gulfs into which peninsulas extend, isthmuses, capes, promontories, islands and archipelagos are numerous on the western coast.

Great Britain has a sea coast line out of all proportion to its size which is the cause of the Greek peninsula. These extensive coast lines which contrast with the almost impenetrable compact mass of Eastern Europe secure to the west a very decided advantage over the east in commerce which has been in all ages a chief cause for the advancement of nations and people.

European Russia has many seas to aid it. Were they available most of which are not available for any purpose connected with civilization and its commerce because of ice there is in them the larger part of each year. To the north of Russia the icy ocean washes its coast but it does not aid the Empire to develop commerce which would cause a more advanced and better developed civilization than there is at present in the Empire.

There is another disadvantage that Russia in Europe is under, which is in the vast plains there are in the country. There is very little diversity in climate or in products on these great plains. The country is subject to extreme heat in summer and in winter these plains are swept by cold winds that come from the northern seas unbroken by a range of hills or other obstacles in nature.

Russia occupies more than one-half of Europe possessed of a sea coast not to exceed 500 miles. The other, its western portion, with its 4,500 square miles, has a sea coast of 15,525 miles with open seas all the year. The influence of open seas and plenty of them upon civilization and upon commerce may be learned by comparing Eastern and Western Europe.

The people of Russia are no less intellectual than are the people in the west of Europe, but the environment of the people in Russia has been such that they have been largely excluded from the march of progress which easily made an appearance in the west and which has continued on the land and upon the seas of Western Europe.

Western Europe has an advantage in the Gulf Stream that is continually playing upon its coasts, which secures to the most northerly parts of the west an equable climate, while the storm swept plains of the east have no such modifying agency to reduce the rigors of an almost Arctic winter.

The west has its mountain ranges to aid in protecting and diversifying its climate in connection with the Gulf Stream which give variety and beauty unknown to the east.

JOURNAL'S ROCK SHARP

Queries of Prospectors Answered With Mathematical Exactitude.

R. J. Sierra Valley—In selecting a man to run a windlass you should be careful to get one sound in mind and limb strong in the back and weak in the head. He should wear a No. 6 hat, a forty coat and a number eleven shoe.

No matter ever makes a good windlass man. Through long observation of the astonishing muscularity of giant powder he acquires a disinclination to using his own muscles. He simply directs the energies of the powder. A good windlass man could not do this for the powder being the more intelligent would certainly take the lead.

A windlass man might get along with Hercules No. 2 under certain conditions but the more nervous and irritable No. 1 has been known to resent an impertinence from a crank twister with such energy as to throw him so high that when he came down he had scalded his head and his hair and the southern Pacific had gone out of pollution.

J. I. O. Bago—The rock you describe as being so hard to work is probably sylvite. It is nearly as hard as what the Cornish miners call bloody blue rock.

A veracious individual of this race authority for the statement that after trying for two days to drill a hole in this kind of rock he found that it had dulled three hundred and twenty seven drills and that instead of having a deep hole the hole actually stuck out sixteen inches from the face.

Everett Reno—One of the oil wells in which Reno people are interested is becoming a producer. A strong flow of oil was developed on one of Alfred Nelson's properties. It has been tested for medicinal purposes, a most satisfactory test having been made on Mr. George Frey. Certainly your stock has some value. You may be happy yet, you bet.

LITTLE LOCAL BREVITIES

Items of Street and Town too Brief for Separate Heads.

Eugene Holland, a pioneer resident of the Comstock district at his home yesterday. Mr. Holland was well known in this city where his many friends regret to hear of his death.

The Truckee River Central Electric company will put up a sub station at Reno this summer.

L. J. Cohn has received a number of new styles in summer wear. Call at his rooms in the Nevada bank building and inspect his line.

Three candidates were initiated last night by Reno Lodge No. 14 into the mystic of Odd Fellowship.

Constable Leeper is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

GOT HIS HEAD CRACKED.

A shepherdman found a knife play in a Commercial Row saloon last night and got laid out with a billiard cue as the fellow got what he deserved no arrest was made.

J. Sarret yesterday brought in from Pica and Valley the last lot of Nixon & Sarret's spring wool clip. The total clip of this firm amounts to $60,000 pounds and none of the wool has been sold as yet—Winnemucca Silver State.

James C. Doughty is said to have been appointed Postmaster at Tuscarora, Elko county, to fill the vacancy caused by the arrest of Snyder, his predecessor, for embezzlement.

TRIAL FOR MURDER

The District Court Was Engaged Yesterday With the Sosa Case.

The second day of the trial of Elmo Sosa on the charge of murdering Joaquin Valenzuela was devoid of special interest. The prosecution concluded its case and the defense began the introduction of testimony.

The case will probably go to the jury this evening. District Attorney Pike is vigorously prosecuting the case and the defense is being made by E. L. Williams.

RAILWAY TO RACETRACK.

The Journal is informed on reliable authority that a party of capitalists are considering the feasibility of building an electric railway to the racetrack. It will start at the west end of Plaza street, thus avoiding crossing the track and will run to Center and to Seventh thence to the track.

It is also proposed to continue the line to Bryan City over easy grades. This would be a paying proposition, as ore is now being shipped from this camp at the rate of sixty tons a day and this amount will shortly be largely increased. A rate of $1 a ton is paid for hauling the ore to town.

Passenger traffic between Reno and Bryan City would also be a big item. There are 150 men working in the Wadokind and Bell mines and surrounding prospects. The majority of these could be counted on as steady patrons of the road in addition to the crowd of visitors that go out to the camp every day.

The building of the road will be settled within the next day or two.

THE BOOM CONTINUES.

The building boom in Reno is on the increase and almost every day can be seen the initiative steps of new ventures. Ed Robb has a foundation well under way for a neat little dwelling house at the corner of Elm and West streets and ground was broken today for a residence at the corner of Walnut and West opposite the lot selected for the new kindergarten building. At least a half dozen houses in the vicinity of Nob Hill are in course of construction, some of them nearly completed. The frame work of the Humphrey residence on North Virginia street was placed in position today, and the two large buildings of B. F. Currier in the same section are fast nearing completion.

The finishing touches are being put on the Leon house on Maple street and the Orvil Sessions are being a Ba and the Orvil Sessions two-story dwelling house on the same street is being rapidly pushed to completion. The amount of building done last year showed wonderful progress of our city but the increase this year over last and previous years is so marked that it can easily be termed a building boom in every sense of the word with no abatement in sight.

Every man competent to handle a hammer and saw can find all the work he wants, and the Reno mill is taxed to its utmost to keep the workmen going. Let the good work go on.

AUGUST FLOWER.

It is a surprising fact, says Prof. Houston, that in my travels in all parts of the world for the last ten years, I have met more people having used Green's August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen, or for persons filling office positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist that Green's August Flower is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion. Sample bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson. Sold by all dealers in all civilized countries.

RALLY AT UNIVERSITY

Students and Faculty Enjoyed a Love Feast Yesterday Afternoon.

The students and faculty of the University had a grand rally yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The student body assembled in front of the gymnasium and marched to Morrill Hall.

First in order was a selection by the cadet band. The forces were augmented by almost the entire faculty. For an hour a love feast was in progress. Students "hot aired" the faculty and the professors returned the compliment. College spirit was very much in evidence and enthusiasm found ready vent.

Addresses were made by President Stubbs, Dr. Kennedy, Prof. Lewis and Dr. Cushman. Those of the students who spoke were C. E. Southworth, Wm. Stark, Ed. Lyman and Will Taylor.

The general trend of the addresses was good fellowship, college spirit and the relation of inter-collegiate debates and athletic contests to progress of the best interest of the University. It was impressed by several of the speakers the necessity to treat the visitors from Utah with equal if not greater hospitality than was shown the Sagebrushers when they visited Mormonism last year.

WILL ARRIVE SATURDAY

The Automobile on Its Trip Across the Continent—A Break-down.

Mr. Winton, who is crossing the continent with his automobile machine, found it was impossible to effect temporary repairs yesterday at Cascade Creek, and he will consequently be unable to start from there until noon today.

This will bring him into Reno about Saturday morning. The Journal hopes that the Wheelmen of Reno, who are naturally interested in such feats as Mr. Winton desires to accomplish will endeavor to meet him on his way from Verdi, and make his stay in Nevada as pleasant as possible.

It was stated last night that it would be necessary for him to remain at some point in western Nevada for some days to effect permanent repairs and we think that Reno is just the place where he can find accommodations for such work.

The Wheelmen of Reno have long desired the chance of a trial of speed by being paced by an automobile and here is their opportunity.

We think that Mr. Winton will find a hearty welcome here and every facility in effecting repairs for his long and trying journey across the desert.

TWO DOLLARS A POUND.

It was thought that the top notch in Reno Star was reached recently when the smelter returns were at the rate of $1.47 cents a pound, but a richer stratum than that has been encountered. One was coming out of the mine yesterday that will undoubtedly go $4000 a ton. It is solid horn silver and weighs like lead. The stratum is a couple of inches thick and is valued with yellow chloride ore that will yield nearly $500 a ton.

WHEELMEN SHOULD GO.

There will be cheap rates to Susanville next week and a lot of people expect to take advantage of the fact. What is the matter with the Reno Wheelmen taking this opportunity to repay the visit of the Susanville riders a year or so ago? The N-C-O will undoubtedly put on a car for the wheels and check them free so that they can be used for the trip from Hot Springs.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

Following is the program for the meeting of Friday May 24th:
Vocal solo—Leo Hickman
Review of "David Corson"—Miss E. Webster
Cornet solo—Mr. R. Tobin
Review of "Eleanor"—Miss F. Frey
Elizabeth and Her German Garden—Mrs. J. E. Logan
Vocal duet—Mrs. F. M. Lee and Leo Hickman

ELECTION POSTPONED.

A meeting of the Board of Education of Reno School District was held yesterday afternoon. The business before the meeting was to choose a principal for next year. The matter was taken up but was postponed until two weeks from yesterday.

PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Needham of This City Receives Summons to Depart.

Mrs. M. H. Needham, an old resident of Reno, died this morning at the residence of J. F. Aitken on Mill street, after a lingering illness of more than a year.

Deceased was a native of Indianapolis, Indiana, but had lived in Reno for upwards of twenty-three years, carrying on the furniture business with her husband until his death some years ago, and subsequently engaged in that business on her own account.

Mrs. Needham has been in ill health for about two years, and she paid a visit to San Francisco for medical treatment last year, spending eight or ten months in the city, but returned some three months ago without improvement, and grew gradually worse until this morning her sufferings were ended.

She leaves no children nor near relatives in this locality. She was aged 59 years.

Funeral arrangements will be announced after the arrival of her relatives from the west. They are expected this morning.

TO RECEIVE THE PRESIDENT

The suggestions offered in the Journal that a committee arrange a reception to President McKinley are bearing fruit.

Dr. Stubbs and Senator Flanigan have taken the initiative.

They have wired the President's secretary and railroad officials and are confident that the special will make a stop here and our people be given an opportunity to greet Mr. McKinley and be addressed by him.

In all probability the Presidential train will leave San Francisco Saturday morning and be here about sundown that evening. The committee named in the Journal and several other prominent citizens will see to it that the station building is decorated and other arrangements made. The writer has also suggested the running of an excursion train of the N-C-O road. General Passenger Agent Bennett signified his willingness to make rate concessions to the northern people. The V. & T. Company should do likewise.

NO BOOZE IS ALLOWED.

The Sierra Valley Record tells of a new town to be built by the Loyalton Lumber Company near Loyalton, in which it is expected that five hundred men will be employed within three years.

A sawmill of 150,000 feet daily output, with box factories, water works, electric lights, and buildings of neat and modern appearance are the most prominent features of the proposed town, with the exception that the saloon business and liquor traffic is to be strictly barred.

THE NORMAL RECEPTION.

Last evening occurred one of the pleasantest events thus far in the entertainment season. The Normal reception was the bill. It was held in the gymnasium and the spacious building was thronged with the students and their guests.

An interesting musical program was rendered, after which the grand march was in order.

TOUR OF INSPECTION.

United States Fish Commissioner Tullan, accompanied by Fish Warden Merklinger paid an official visit to Verdi yesterday and inspected the hatchery at that point. Mr. Tullan is securing valuable information upon the Truckee and its fish, and Nevada benefit in a year or two derive much benefit from that official's visit to this State. Mr. Merklinger and Mr. Tullan will be to Verdi Sunday where they will meet the members of the California Fish Commission to talk over ways and means to improve fishing streams of the two States. A meeting of this kind is bound to have good results.

ANNUAL DEBATE

The Universities of Nevada and Utah Will Contest This Evening.

The second annual debate with the University of Utah will take place in the University gymnasium this evening. The question for discussion will be, "Resolved, that the promotion of industry by subsidy, bounty or bonus is bad public policy in the United States."

The University of Utah will defend the proposition and the University of Nevada will attack it.

Utah will be represented by Messrs. Welling, Brown and Sanders. Nevada's speakers will be Messrs. Ayres, Bonham and Springmeyer.

The debate promises to be one of the best we have ever had in Reno. Both Utah and Nevada will no doubt have improved by last year's experience. At the former contest Utah was victorious, but this year Nevada hopes to win back her lost laurels. It will surely be closely contested.

H. LETER, The Clothier 12, Commercial Row Reno, Nev.

MR. RIDER—If you examine the Crank Hanger of the Racyle, you will see that the chain and sprocket run between the two bearings, instead of on the side of both, like other bicycles, therefore cutting off all side leverage, side pressure and binding on the bearings, chain and sprocket. If the Racyle has not the best and easiest running Crank Hanger of any bicycle made, why have seven factories tried to steal its patents? The bearings on the Racyle Hanger are in direct line with the center of the Cranks, which throws the sprocket and chain between the bearings. "The heart of a bicycle is the hanger." These features are what cost a few other manufacturers of bicycles a fortune to leave alone. They cost the Racyle $20,000, the Columbia over $40,000, the Viking $12,000 and the Cleveland $32,000. These factories are today copying the Racyle Patented Hanger as near as they are permitted. We will be pleased to show you the infringements other bicycle factories had on the Racyle if you call at our store, also show you why you don't have to oil the Crank Hanger of the Racyle for one year. It has a magazine self oiler. A Racyle is a bicycle, but a bicycle is not a Racyle. RENTING, REPAIRING, RIDING LESSONS, EVERYTHING FOR BICYCLES, No. 18 Second street, Reno.
